

FUTURE LEADERS PROGRAM

Several years ago, MCC started a new professional development opportunity for all members of the college staff called Future Leaders. A new group of employees begin the program every two years. The intent of the program is to help groom employees that will be seeking internal promotions, higher level positions outside the college or are just interested in exploring one of those possibilities. The program asks each employee to participate in a self-appraisal, to discuss current and emerging community college issues, to visit other community colleges, to create or enhance their resume, and to network with other colleagues.
