Fix For IPhone With Inaccurate Unread Messages Notification

Is your iPhone "Unread Message Notification" showing that you have messages marked as unread, but in Outlook you do not have any unread messages?

Follow these steps to fix the issue:

- Go into your Outlook account on your computer and mark your entire inbox as unread. Do this by highlighting every message in the inbox, right click on the messages and select unread.

- Wait a minute or two for your iPhone's mail to update to show all email as unread.

- Now select all of your email on your computer (Inbox) and mark it as read.

- In another minute or two, you should have zero unread messages on your iPhone's Exchange account.
